PARALYSIS FATAL TO HARVE BAINUM

DID NOT REGAIN CONSCIOUSNESS FROM STROKE TUESDAY

WIFE BURIED WEEK AGO

Life Long Resident of Nodaway County—Was Known as Champion "Hard Luck" Citizen

Just a week after the burial of his wife, E. Harvey Bainum died at 1:50 o'clock this morning at his home, 201 East Fifth Street. Mr. Bainum had been in failing health for several months and early Tuesday afternon suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Bainum died Tuesday morning September 20, after a lingering illness. Mr. Bainum is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Will F. Phares and Miss Anna Bainum of this city; his mother, Mrs. Hannah Garten, and one brother, G. P. Bainum, both of Maryville. Other immediate relatives who survive are a half-csister, Mrs. C. S. Heimbaugh of Omaha, Neb., and three half-brothers, Art Garten of Maryville, and Stant and Shell Garten, living near Pickering.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the family residence, conducted by the Rev. S. P. Allison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the family lot in the cemetery at Graham, where Mrs. Bainum was buried last Wednesday.

Mr. Bainum was born on March 3, 1860, on a farm near Burlington Junction. He was educated in the common schools and the high school in Maryville. He learned telegraphy in his youth and became very proficient in this line of work, remaining in the employ of the Burlington railroad for a period of sixteen years as operator and agent, giving eminent satisfaction as a faithful and trusted employee.

He then purchased an interest in the Union Bus company of Maryville, which he retained four years and then disposed of; but after conducting a livery business in a small way for two years, he again, in 1903, purchased the business of the Union Bus company and was conducting that business when the jitneys came along several years ago. Mr. Bainum conducted one of the best bus lines in the state. Later he became proprietor of the Bainum Hotel. He sold this hotel a few years ago, and then became connected with Arthur Garten in the grocery and meat market business, selling out to W. B. Price a few months ago.

Mr. Bainum was a Republican in politics. He was township trustee at the time the $50,000 bond issue was spent. He served as city clerk for a period of five years. He was a candidate for the office of county clerk several years ago but was defeated.

Mr. Bainum was known as the "hard-luck" man of Maryville. He was in several accidents and was badly crippled. In spite of sickness, accidents and business reverses, he was always cheerful and contented and never uttered a word of protest. He was a good citizen, taking a pride in whatever tended to promote the general good of the city and the county.

DYNAMITING CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

HOPKINS MEN CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL METHOD OF FISHING.

LIQUOR CHARGE CHANGED

Roy Langley and James H. Wilson Now Face Trial on Only Two Counts.

The case of the state against William Traster, Walter Creech and Silas C. Ramsey on a charge of dynamiting fish in the 102 River near Hopkins was being tried today in circuit court.

The alleged offense occurred on March 24, 1921. Two boys, Ivan and Raymond Bridgewater, 11 and 15 years old, were the main witnesses for the state and testified to the dynamiting of the river by the defendants. The defendants on the stand testified that they were not near the river on the day in question. The case went to the jury at press time this afternoon.

The jury hearing the case is composed of W. W. Alexander, Henry A. Thompson, Ben Tarpley, C. T. Frost, R. T. Allen, J. P. Merrigan, Ira Gillispie, O. O. Gregory, Elias Echterling, J. N. Alexander, W. B. Graham and George W. Alexander.

In the four cases against Roy Langley and James H. Wilson on charges of sale, possession, manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquor, the defendants filed a motion to quash, which was sustained by the court on the ground that the information was not verified as required by law.

Two new charges against both Langley and Wilson were filed by Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey. They were charged with the unlawful possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor.

Lester Belcher on a charge of forgery entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $750.

ASK AN INJUNCTION AGAINST ELECTION

IS LATEST DEVELOPMENT IN SKIDMORE SCHOOL FIGHT.

NOT A PROPER PLACE

Plaintiffs Say Union Valley School-House Is not Centrally Located and Is too Small.

An injunction suit was filed today to restrain and to enjoin the residents and taxpayers of the Skidmore consolidated district from holding their meeting Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of voting on the proposition of dissolution of this district.

The injunction petition was filed by W. J. Skidmore and M. A. Sewell. It names the following as defendants: W. J. Mast, H. D. Shull, W. R. Groves, C. M. Cottrell, Ed Rockwell, O. E. Caywood, Pete Imboden, Robert W. Barrett, J. H. Murphy, David Wright, L. J. Daise, Jesse H. Campbell, J. P. Hughes, Leland Linville, E. T. Clark, Ralph Wright, John McDowell, William Blackney and C. F. Steph. These men, according to the petition, are the signers of the notices posted calling such an election for Saturday to disorganize and to dissolve this district.

The matter will come before Judge Dawson late this afternoon on the application for a temporary injunction. A number of the defandants are represented by Fred Harvey and Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey.

In their petition for an injunction the plaintiffs set forth the following reasons:

That the school house designated as the meeting place for the voters of the consolidated district to vote on the proposition to dissolve, Union Valley school house, is a ward building and is not a place designated by the statutes or according to law.

The the Union Valley school house is not in the center of population of the consolidated district; it is in the country; the building is too small to accommodate the large number; a great many of th Skidmore residents cannot attend said meeting because they lack the means of transportation; in case of inclement weather this is not enough room in the Union Valley school house and no place close by for shelter.

Another section of the petition states: In case the defendants fail to carry the election, they intend, so the plaintiffs have been informed, to call meetings from time to time, to the great annoyance, inconvenience and expense of the great number of voters of said district, unless meetings are held at a place designated by law. The petition stated the Skidmore school house is near the center of the district and meetings should be held there.

The election Saturday was to have been the third election to have been held in this district. The first election was on May 10, 1921, when the matter of consolidation was voted on, the vote being 336 for and 196 against. The second election was held July 21 when a proposal to dissolve the district was voted on. The vote was 206 for dissolution and 347 against dissolution.

There are ten districts in the consolidated district. They are Skidmore, Eureka, Mount Vernon, Burr Oak, Albright, Star, Union Valley, Liberty, Good Will and Scrub Oak.

INVITES IRISH LEADERS TO CONFERENCE ON OCTOBER 11

Lloyd George Reiterates, However, That Britian's Stand on Separation Cannot Be Altered

London, Sept. 29—Premier Lloyd George today replied to Eamon De Valera's note of September 19, inviting the Sinn Fein to send delegates to the Irish peace conference here October 11. The premier reiterates the cabinet's declaration that Irish independence cannot be recognized and protests that the basis of negotiations cannot be reached through correspondence. "Despite the Irish delegation's sincere desire for peace, said the note, "and despite the conciliatory tone of De Valera's latest communications we cannot enter into a conference on the basis of this correspondence. The position taken by the government on the fundamentals of the existence of the British empire cannot be altered."

ARBUCKLE MURDER CHARGE DISMISSED

FILM STAR TO BE TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER INSTEAD

NOT SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

Comedian Is Released on $5,000 Cash Bail and Will Return to Los Angeles

San Francisco, Sept. 29—Fatty Arbuckle is free after nineteen days of imprisonment and is happy in the knowledge he will not be forced to stand trial for murder as the result of the death of Virginia Rappe. Today he prepared to return to Los Angeles. He leaves for there tonight

San Francisco, Sept. 29—The murder complaint against Roscoe C. Arbuckle was reduced to manslaughter yesterday by police Judge Sylvian J. Lazarus, who held him to answer to the superior court for trial on the lesser rharge growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe following a drinking party in Arbuckle's suite at the Hotel St. Francis.

Judge Lazarus held that the evidence introduced by the district attorney during the 6-day hearing did not warrant the comedian's being held for murder.

"I have decided to make a holding for manslaughter, tinding there is enough in the defendant's conduct to warrant his trial on that charge," said Judge Lazarus.

"I feel no rape or attempted rape was committed by the defendant on Miss Rappe," he said.

"I feel also bound by the grand jury, whose indictment for manslaughter was voted after having more evidence than I was permitted to hear."

Arbuckle was released from the city prison tonight on $5,000 cash bail.

While the formalities of bail were being arranged, which called for a superior court order transferring the bail from one case to another, Arbuckle went back to the city prison where he has been held for the last eighteen days.

JURY FINDS JESS ANDERSON GUILTY

FIXES SENTENCE AT FIVE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

COMPANION UP FRIDAY

Verdict Disregards Confession of William Solomon, Alleged To Be A "Frame-Up"

Jess Anderson was found guilty in Circuit Court yesterday of stealing the John R. Hubbell car in Barnard and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The case went to the jury at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and their veridct was returned about 8 o'clock that evening. It was said several ballots were taken by the jury as to the time of the sentence.

The Anderson case was one of the most sensational cases in circuit court for some time. William Solomon, one of the defendants held in connection with the stealing of the Hubbell car, took the stand yesterday afternoon and admitted he stole the car and said Anderson and Ernest Jackson, who is to be tried in court tomorrow on the same charge, had nothing to do with it.

Alibi testimony was also relied by the defense. A few witnesses testified that Anderson was in St. Joseph on the night the car was taken.

The state introduced testimony that Anderson was seen in Barnard a few days before and on the same day the Hubbell car was stolen.

A motion for a new trial was filed in the Anderson case by the defense this morning.

The case of the state vs. Ernest Jackson, charged with being connected with the stealing of the Hubbell car, is scheduled to come up for trial in the morning. A new panel of twenty-four jurors is being summoned for this case. It is the contention of the state that Jackson was with Anderson when the Hubbell car was taken. The testimony in this case will be practically the same as was introduced in the Anderson case.

CRASH OF BURNING ROOF WAKES UP FAMILY IN NIGHT

Home of R. C. Anthony A Complete Loss—nothing Saved Except One Blanket

The crash of the kitchen roof as it fell in a blazing heap saved the lives of R. C. Anthony and two children last night, when fire destroyed their four-room house on South Railroad Street. The noise woke the father, and he roused the two sleeping boys and got them from the house just before it became a mass of flames.

The alarm was turned in to the fire department at 2:10 o'clock this morning. The house was completely destroyed, together with all its contents. The only blanket saved was used to wrap a badly burned dog, while Mr. Anthony went barefooted.

Mrs. Anthony was not at home, having gone to St. Joseph to visit relatives.

The damage to the house and contents is estimated at $600.

MAY MOVE TO POSTPONE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

London, Sept. 29—Premier Lloyd George may make a move to have the Washington disarmament conference postponed until March, 1922, it was learned today.

Washington, Sept. 29—The state department has received no hint that Lloyd George may seek to postpone the disarmament conference to March.

MERCHANTS WILL MARCH TO FIELD

WILL MEET AT FOURTH AND MAIN AT 3 O'CLOCK

BEARCATS OUTWEIGHED

Squad Is Light But Experienced and Well Balanced—Gameness Expected to Tell

At the suggestion of D. R. Eversole, all merchants and their employees will meet at the corner of fourth and Main Streets at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and go in a body to the State Teachers College atheletic field, where the Kirksville Bulldogs will open the football season against the Bearcats.

The stores will be closed from 3 to 4:30 o'clock, by unanimous vote at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon last Monday night. Mr. Eversole's proposal that the merchants attend the game in a body to show united support of the school met with an equally warm reception.

That the Bearcats will be outweighed in the opening game is almost a certainty, but Coach Sprong depends upon the fight and gameness of his charges to hold the champions even. The presence of ten men who have had at least one year of experience on the squad is encouraging. Many of the new recruits hape played two, three or four years of high school football.

Hunt, a guard, is the heaviest man on the team. He tips the beam at an even 200 pounds. Foreman, former Maryville High School star, is the next heaviest man, his weight in football togs being 175 pounds. The rest of the squad drops into the 150 and 160 pound class, with a few weighing even less. The average of the entire squad is around 155 pounds.

COUNT OF STRIKE VOTE IS PROCEEDING SLOWLY

Action of Other Crafts Will Not Influence Trainmen, Says Vice-President

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Officials of the brotherhood of railway trainmen will hold another conference this afternoon in connection with the strike vote. Tabulation of the ballots is proceeding slowly and the result may not be announced until tonight. James Murdock, vice-president of the brotherhood, made it plain today that the trainmen would strike regardless of the action of other brotherhoods.

"If conductors, engineers and firemen or switchmen see fit not to strike," he said, "we shall regret the lack of unanimity, but the action of other crafts will not operate to keep us from striking."

As soon as the ballot is completed, the general chairman will return home to confer with the respective grievance committees, Murdock said. This was taken as an indication that if the strike is voted it may be deferred several weeks while the grievance committee conference is held.

SENATOR NEWBERRY GIVEN WHITEWASH

IS DECLARED NOT GUILTY OF ELECTION FRAUDS.

FORD THREATENS FIGHT

Warns Senators He Will Carry Fight for Clean Elections Into Their Home States.

Washington, Sept. 29—Senator Truman Newberry is entitled to a seat, the majority of the committee which investigated the Henry Ford election fraud charges against him reported today. The majority report was offered by Senators Spencer of Missouri, Watson of Indiana and Edge of New Jersey.

The Democratic members submitted a report holding that Newberry was entirely culpable for the expenditure of $200,000 in the Michigan primary election and should not be allowed to retain his seat in the Senate.

Detroit, Sept. 29—Henry Ford's next role may be that of a crusader—a modern crusader whose aim will be to purify corruption at the ballot box.

Ford has issued his challenge and he's going into the fight in earnest unless placated. To the senate Monday night went his telegram demanding it "clean its own skirts" and declaring a "white-wash" for Senator Newberry means he will open fire.

Yesterday, at his motor car plant at Iron Mountain, Mich., Mr. Ford announced his prospective plan of battle. Every senator who votes for a "whitewash," he said, wil be marked. Into each home state of every senator "who fails to do his duty in regard to men accused of political corruption in using money to obtain seats in the senate," he will go, he declared, and "carry the issue to the people."

Senator Newberry was Ford's opponent in the Michigan senatorial race two years ago. Newberry was accused by Ford of using more than ¼ million dollars to win. The charge of corruption is now before a senate committee.

A nation-wide campaign is planned, if necessary, in an effort to clean politics. Ford declares he is satisfied the people themselves will take care of the situation in states other than Michigan, where there is evidence of the illegal use of money in connection with senatorial elections.

With considerable interest political circles will await the next move to be made by Ford. It is doubtful, too, that he will keep the country in general and the United States senators in particular in suspense on whom he will make his tight, for Mr. Ford is a fast worker, and a list of the "Ford undesirables" can be looked for at most any time.

Democratic Constructive Tax Revision.

Another evidence that the Democrats are trying to be helpful by suggesting and shaping constructive legislation is shown in an amendment to the Revenue bill, the joint recommendation of Senator Gerry (Dem. R. I.) and Senator Walsh (Dem. Mass.) reducing the tax of 4 per cent upon net incomes under $4,000 and 8 per cent upon all above to 2 per cent upon incomes under $5,000, 4 per cent on incomes between 5,000 and 10,000 and 6 per cent upon incomes between $10,000 and $15,000.

Another amendment by Senator Walsh seeks to change the uniform tax of 15 per cent upon the net incomes of corporations as agreed upon by the Senate Finance Committee by providing a graduate tax applied to the net income of corporations, beginning with a 10 per cent tax upon a net income of $100,000, 15 per cent between $100,000 and $300,000 and 20 per cent in excess of $300,000.

For the loss in revenues estimated at $105,000,000 on individual incomes as provided for by the amendment, it is proposed as an illustration to put a one-cent per gallon tax upon gasoline, collected at the source, which is estimated to produce from $10,000,000 to $200,000,000.

It is also proposed to restore the tax on corporation capital stock which produces a revenue of $80,000,000, the majority having stricken that provision from the bill.

These amendments if adopted would reduce the income tax bills of over 3,000,000 individual tax payers and 195,000 corporations.

The adoption of these amendments would prevent the proposed shift of the higher surtaxes to the backs of the people.

All unprejudiced persons regard taxation as an economic subject and one in which no partisan politics should enter. The Republicans, so far, have made the tax bill not only a party but a partisan matter, but they have pretended to be favorable to constructive suggestions.

It remains now to be seen in what manner the Senate Republican majority will receive these helpful constructive amendments in view of the fact that it has operated so far under the policy of untaxing the rich and overtaxing the poor.

Hopkins Minister to Iowa

The Presbyterian church of Hopkins is again without a pastor, Rev. B. E. Kertchman, preaching his farewell sermon last Sunday night, having been called to the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church of Randolph, Iowa.

Rev. Kertchman came to Hopkins from Chicago a year ago and proved very popular with his church and congregation.

Last Sunday night, the Methodist and Christian churches cancelled their services that their congregations might listen to the farewell address of Rev. Kertchman who told of his life since the time he left Russia as a boy some twelve years ago, to come to America. He had no money and "worked his way on the boat," and "worked his way through school" after reaching here, showing what a boy can do if he so wills.

SEEKS IDEAL WOMAN

"I've tramped over 12,000 miles to see if there's one solitary woman left who doesn't try to do poor, little old Adam out of his own little job." Such is the story of Carl C. Countryman of Chicago, executive secretary of the League of Young Americans, who was seen in London recently wearing a khaki suit and a bright smile. "I've been looking for the sweet, gentle-mannered Englishwoman we used to fall in love with in the states," said Mr. Countryman. "Trying just to catch a glimpse of her, I've added 400 miles to my record in a walk from Glasgow to London—and I'm still walking."

COMMENDS HEIFNER FOR INSURANCE RATE FIGHT

Pickering Pick-Ups Also Has Something to Say About Roads Leading to Maryville.

The following are taken from the Pickering Pick-Ups in the Hopkins Journal:

That man Heifner down at Maryville should keep up his fight against the insurance companies. The railroads are not the only ones ribbing the country. Insurance rates are altogether too high and there should be some means found to lower them.

The hill just after crossing the Canal branch bridge between Pickering and Maryville, is the meanest in the county, but give Maryville time enough and maybe it will be fixed. In the meantime those who are wise either go to some other town or to Maryville over the Red Line.

Some men who do not live a thousand miles from Pickering would be considered liberal and very liberal, too, if giving away advice counted. Some wonder why snakes and lizzards were made, but "why the know it all" is more of a mystery to the writer.

Postmistress Issues An Edict

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 29—Mrs. John Gilmour, Republican postmistress here, says the Democrats must cease mailing letters to voters from the country postoffices. Maul Mattingly, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee for Daviess County, says there is no law that can tell him where he may or may not post letters. He is mailing the letters, he says, at the country offices for the purpose of helping the Democratic postmasters, their remuneration being based on cancellation of stamps in their offices.

Today adherents of both parties are talking about Mrs. Gilmour's edict.

PRESIDENT HARDING LIKE PONY MOPPS

HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS ARE ALL "TALKED-OF."

CONGRESS DOES NOTHING

Only Legislation Approved by Big Interests Has Made Any Progress With G. O. P.

By Richard Linthicum
(Special Correspondence)

Washington, Sept. 29—The Mayflower brought President Harding home from his latest vacation just in time for the reassembling of Congress, which is again in session, the House metaphorically with its feet on the desk, taking three days' adjournments while waiting for the Senate to determine in what order it will take up legislation which includes tax revision, tariff and practically everything for which it was called into special session.

Senator Pat Harrison (Dem. Miss) took occasion on the opening day to analyze President Harding's letter to Senator McCormick, making claims of "monumental accomplishments" for his administration. His analysis of the "monumental accomplishments" developed the following telling points:

That while the Democrats considered politics adjourned to give the administration a chance to enact relief measures for the country, the President had written a political letter magnifying his so-called "accomplishments" to be used for partisan purposes in the election of a United States Senator.

That a little while after the President expressed the hope that both the tariff and tax bills will be passed at this extraordinary session, the Postmaster General was telling the country "that conditions are in such a turmoil that in all probability no tariff revision legislation will be further attempted until next year."

That the amendments incorporated in the so-called Packers Control Bill, a bill claimed as one of the "monumental accomplishments," were in the handwriting of the attorney for the packers.

That the bill regulating the grain exchanges, another "monumental accomplishment," contained practically every recommendation made by the grain exchanges.

That Senator Watson, who it is thought will succeed Senator Lodge as Republican leader, a member of the Finance Committee of the Senate, had written a letter pleading for funds for the Republican National Committee, with which to combat Democratic publicity.

That for the fiscal year 1916-17 a Democratic administration expended only $1,114,000,000.

That for the current year a Republican administration is expending $4,600,000,000, which, when the interest on the war debt is deducted, is $2,500,000,000 more than in 1916.

That the appropriation for the Employment bureau in the Department of Labor which asked for $1,600,000 was cut down to $225,000, the only actual retrenchment so far.

That "the courts for generations to come will have to consider and to work upon the intricate position of whether or not by striking from the Versailles Treaty the League of Nations convenant there has not been eliminated with it all the mandatory rights that the United States has in that treaty."

That the legislation which has been passed would have been improved if the suggestions made and amendments offered by Democrats had been accepted and adopted.

Senator Harrison, commenting upon Senator Smoot's reported statement that the Government will expend $5,000,000,000 a year, drew from Senator Smoot the statement "that if the savings that are promised us by the departments are made, I shall be very well satisfied this year. The only thing I fear is that they cannot be made."

The Mississippi Senator's adventure in the Elephant's compound was both diverting and instructive.

A Presidential Parallel

With all due respect to the brilliant powers of analysis and eloquence of Senator Harrison there has been no truer epitome of the "Monumental Accomplishments" of the Harding administration than the one presented in the form of an analogy by the delightful humorist and philosopher, Abe Martin, when he said:

"Pony Mopps, president o' th' town board, has only been in office six months, an' as a result o' his splendid leadership he has accomplished th' follerin': — a talked - of swimmin' pool, new courthouse steps contemplated, a reduction o' taxes in th' background, four new lamp-posts prophesied, a budget system suggested an' a party split almost ironed out."

Like Pony Mopps, president of the town board, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, has also been in office six months, and as a result of his "splendid leadership" he has accomplished the following—a talked-of and badly talked-of tariff bill; new loans to the railroads contemplated, a reduction of taxes in the background, so far back they cannot be seen; more appropriations for the Lasker Shipping Board prophesied, a budget system for "paper savings" and a dispute over party patronage in Ohio practically ironed out."

These items do not include much of the legislation pending nor the eleven bills for bridges, three for public lands, two for public grounds and buildings, two for dams, one each for dykes, rivers and fisheries, and five appropriation bills already passed together with authorizations to the Secretary of the Treasury, to issue certificates of indebtedness upon which to borrow money to run the government while the administration makes claims of "great savings."

The late Max O'Rell said; "The humorists are the wise men" and Abe Martin's satirical analogy is fresh evidence of the truth of the statement.

MOTORISTS FIGURE AUTOS COST LESS THAN RAILROAD

Three Vacationists Check Up on Expenses of Both Large and Small Cars.

The vacation season was coming to an end.

Three men were talking over their experiences.

"I drove through to New England and down into Boston with my wife and boy," said one of them, "And I have just figured out that the trip cost us less than if we had gone by train."

The other two men pricked up their ears. Each of them, as it happened, had also driven across Pennsylvania and New York into New England with their families.

"Your car cost you less than $1000" said one of them. "That makes a difference. I drove my big car through and I don't believe that would hold true in my case."

"Well, let's sit down and figure it out," said the first man. And they did.

Here are the results.

Of the three cars, one was in a class costing less than $1000, the second cost around $2000 and the third cost over $3000.

The railroad fare to Boston, including Pullman, is $34.72.

The man with the little car pulled out his red note book. "Here are the figures," he said. "My gas averaged 23 cents a gallon and oil $1 per gallon adding minor repairs and maintenance, makes the whole thing cost me $45.76. Divide that among three people and see where it leaves you."

"Well, that's alright" said the second man, "but you have an investment in your car and your tires, and there is depreciation to a certain extent from the trip. To get your complete costs you ought to figure that in."

"I did figure it in," said the first man, turning over the page. "I used clincher fabric tires, and figured depreciation on them on the basis of mileage of 5000; I estimated depreciation on the car of 20,000 miles; I put down interest on my investment at 6 per cent and added in insurance and the total cost came to $71.50, here are the figures. Check them for yourself. I knew they are right.

"Now then" he concluded, "three railroad fares would have cost us three times $34.73, which is $104.19, but by auto with all these things figured in, the three of us made the trip for just $71.50.

Then they took up the case of the second man, whose car was in the $2000 class. He had taken his wife and two children along. His actual operating cost, including gas, oil and repairs was $64.36. Taking his 33 x 4 cord tires as having a life of 8,000 miles, and the car itself as being good for 40,000 miles, they added the proper depreciation and figured that his total cost was $115.83. If he had gone by train it would have cost him $23.00 more, or $138.92.

"Well, I don't know," said the third man, whose car was in the $3000 class. "I'm afraid the only way I could get out on that would be to take a pretty good load of passengers. As a matter of fact, there were six of us in the party. Let's see how that figures up."

His operating cost by auto was $87.95. His total cost, including interest on his investment, depreciation on his car on the basis of a life of 60,000 miles and on his 35 x 5 cord tires of 8,000 miles, plus interest, insurance and the like, totaled $195.20. With six railroad fares at $34.73 it would have run to $293.38, so he saved a little better than $13, as against traveling by train.

"Well, what did I tell you?" said the first man triumphantly.

"I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen the figures," said the other men.

MAKES MORE CONVERTS FOR SCIENTIFIC POULTRY CULLING

Data in Office of County Farm Agent Shows More Eggs With the "Slackers" Eliminated.

Figures that are startling are on file in the office of R. A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, showing partial results of the campaign of scientific poultry culling in which he is now engaged. Flocks reduced to one-half of their former size and requiring one-half of the feed formerly needed have actually laid more eggs than the full flocks, the reports from farmwives show.

Tabulating all the reports received thus far, gives the following results: good hens, 1,799; culls 1,113; eggs before culling, 566; eggs after culling, 626; eggs by culls, 17. These are daily averages.

One of the most remarkable records is that reported by W. R. Hukill. The flock originally had 253 hens, which were laying 21 eggs a day. The county agent separated 112 hens which he said were not earning their feed. The remaining 141 hens then laid an average of 26 and 2-7 eggs a day, while the culls did not lay.

Eugene Lyle had 161 hens laying 20 eggs a day. Ninety of them were culled out, and the 71 left laid 19 3-7 eggs a day, while the culls laid none.

Leo King had 361 hens with an average daily egg production of 55. When 155 were culled out, the remaining 206 laid 80 eggs a day and the 155 culls laid 7 in a week.

The reports received thus far, the figures indicating good hens, culls, eggs before, eggs after, and eggs by culls, in the order named, are as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL HAS ASSEMBLY HONORING FRANCES WILLARD

Mrs. S. S. Wolcott and Two Ministers Make Talkes—Pep Meeting For King City Game

The Maryville High School held an assembly in commemoration of the anniversary of Frances E. Willard yesterday afternoon. The assembly started with a pep meeting in which more enthusiasm was shown than any time this year, and plans were made to invade the College football field Friday at the opening game with Kirksville.

After the pep meeting, Mrs. S. S. Wolcott, an ardent temperance worker and a personal admirer of Miss Frances E. Willard, was introduced by Principal Ezell. She told of the great achievements of Frances E. Willard but said the work was not yet finished and would not be until the enforcement of the Prohibition act. The Rev. S. P. Allison and the Rev. B. F. Cline were the other speakers, in whose speaches the prohibition question was associated with the fall sport of football.

After the assembly the students again showed their pep in giving their yells for the assembly and also for the football team, which plays King City Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Garrett went to Kansas City yesterday for a visit at the home of the latter's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Tompson.

GHETTO'S GUNGA DHIN A TURK

Fez and Baggy Trousers Give New York Drink Vender Potential Oriental Atmosphere.

Picturesque on hot days among upper East side peddlers is the Turkish lemonade vender, says New York Sun. He may be merely a native American in disguise, but he adds to the interest of what might otherwise be a commonplace occidental trade by going about garbed like a Turk such as children are familiar with through the pages of their geography books.

Across his back rests a tank as long as his body, and held up by a thick strap slung over his right shoulder and under his left arm. A sort of Sam Browne belt encircles his waist, except that where on the Sam Browne belt would be a place for bullets he has receptacles for glasses. You ask him for a glass of lemonade. He bows to you, and in so doing operates a mechanism which spills from the tank, through a bung hole near the bottom, some ice-cold lemonade, which falls into a glass he holds in his hand. As the liquid nears the top, he straightens up, hands you the glass, and you give him two cents.

A more frequent spectacle is that of the individual who is continually crying: "Heiser arbus, heiser bubbas." He is declaiming, in Yiddish: "Hot peas, hot beans." His heating contrivance is in a four-wheeled cart he pushes by hand. For one cent he gives you a small beg, for two cents a larger bag, and for five cents he sells you enough to give you cramps. The presence of the "Heiser arbus" man is a signal for the kids of the neighborhood to run to their mothers for pennies.

LUNG BATH SOMETHING NEW

Physician Recommends It as Highly Exhilarating, Though Admitting It Can Be Overdone.

"We are all taking sea baths now," said a doctor. "Lots of people take mud baths, too. Stomach baths are prescribed frequently for dyspeptics. But few of us take lung baths as we should.

"You can swab out your lungs as one swabs out a room. Pure air does it. You go out where the air is pure, throw your head well back; inhale through your nostrils as much of this pure air as your lungs will hold, and then expel it swiftly and forcibly. Do this 15 or 20 times—even oftener if you like. Astonishing how it will cleanse your lungs! Astonishing how good it will make you feel!

"Air is a great stimulant, and some of these lung bathers overstimulate themselves, so that they get nervous, can't sleep at night and so on. They do this by such tricks as breathing the pure air in through one nostril only, taking too many lung baths and that sort of thing. Such over-indulgence is perhaps pardonable if you have a piece of hard mental work to do, but if it is made a habit of, it will break down the health like over-indulgence in cocaine or hootch or any other stimulant."—Detroit Free Press

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—Mrs. BLAIR L. FISHER, R.D.1, Box 37, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of houshold duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Too Wild and Woolly

By DOROTHY WHITCOMB.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

When the father of Julia Everly set his foot down as to his matrimonial plans regarding her, Mrs. Everly weakly submitted to the dictum, and Julia herself bowed her pretty head to hide the tears and said, quietly enough:

"Very well, papa."

"You see," explained Judge Everly to his wife, "twenty-five or fifty thousand dollars isn't a fortune in the big cities, but here in Brandon it makes me the leading man of the place. I've got a good deal of pride, Mary, and I would like to see Julia marry some young man whose means would add to the family wealth, instead of one who would use it up."

"But young men with fortunes do not seem to be in much evidence around Brandon," suggested Mrs. Everly.

"Oh, some one will come along. Julia is young yet; plenty of time," declared the judge. "She's pretty well educated. I can give her the biggest wedding Brandon ever had, and I'm determined to see her well settled in life."

Mrs. Everly sighed softly to herself. Her husband had been a good deal of a disappointment to her, since he had been elevated from a modest income as a country lawyer to a judgeship and the acquisition of twenty-five thousand dollars through a legacy. He had become selfish, sordid and scheming. He posed as a magnate and talked like a millionaire. The time was when he had welcomed Dale Martin, the son of his dead law partner, as a fine young man of whom anybody might be proud.

The banishment of the dearest friend she had ever known naturally affected Julia. She shed some tears and said quite resignedly: "Very well, papa."

She wrote the most comforting letter in the world to Dale, whom business had taken temporarily to the county seat.

The judge came home one afternoon from his office quite brisk and animated. A client was coming to Brandon, an important client, he said. He had brought a letter from another lawyer in Idaho, had an estate to settle up in the county, and had placed his affairs in the hands of the judge.

"Outside of the business standpoint," the judge told his wife, and Julia heard, "I am interested in Mr. Ralph Buxton. He is wealthy, and he is unmarried, I find."

Frontier-like and refreshing, indeed, Mr. Ralph Buxton turned out to be, when he made his appearance that evening. Julia dressed up attractively to please her father, saw a tall, rough-limbed young fellow of about twenty-five, bronzed with the desert's sun. She winced as he shook her hand. He was ingenuous, boisterous, whole-hearted all at once.

He paid marked attention to Julia. At first his quite familiar ways jarred on her, but finally she noted manly deference under his rude compliments. The judge chuckled and nudged his wife in a meaning way, as later in the evening he saw Julia and the westerner conversing on a garden seat.

"I'm glad I've met you," said Buxton to his companion. "I wish I had a sister like you," and then he became confidential. He told the story of his hard struggle to win a fortune. He told, too, of a dark-eyed Spanish girl waiting for him back in the Rockies. Then Julia breathed more freely, understanding the big blunt fellow better, while her father was whispering with fatuous self-complacency to his wife:

"Must be worth a hundred thousand—and see the way he has cottoned to Julia!"

But one day the business on which Buxton had come was finished.

A new phase of his character was now presented. To this day the judge tells with a reminiscent shudder of the wild cowboy who somehow had run across an old ranch comrade. Both had appeared at the law office in an automobile, and had insisted on the judge accompanying them "to see the country."

The papers were full of that riotous visitation a few days later. They told of a mad trail of shot-up cross roads taverns, of farmers called out of their beds at midnight and forced to dance lively to the tune of a fusillade to suit the tastes of the two original gentlemen from the far West.

Ralph Buxton left Brandon the next morning, but the judge did not know it when he sent from the library early in the day for Julia.

"About—er, that young man, Buxton?" he said solicitously.

"Yes," responded Julia softly.

"I hope, that is—I have discovered that he is scarcely adapted to—to civilized ways, and I hope you gave him no encouragement?"

"But I fancied you liked him," insinuated the artful minx.

"I did, till last night—ugh!" shuddered pater familias, and then he kissed the longing face. "And, by the way, Julia, I have changed my views. How is young Martin getting along?"

"Why—I hardly know," stammered Julia.

"Suppose you try and find out," directed the judge, and Julia knew she had won the day.

Usually.

"How long does it take one to master the saxophone?"

"That depends on the neighbors!"

STIRRED HER TO INDIGNATION

Mother Simply Could Not Stand for Repetition of Odious Word by Her Small Boy.

She was apparently a lady of refinement. She had all the hall-marks of the elect. Her clothing was faultless and there was a look of keen intellectuality in her face. With her, says the New York Mail, was a beautiful little boy—not exactly a Little Lord Fauntleroy, but a little chap with big eyes and a wealth of tousseled hair.

I noticed them, the lady for her dignified bearing and the boy for his bright face, as I sat down just in front of them on the suburban train. Pretty soon I heard the little boy say, evidently referring to me:

"Ain't that a funny hat that man has got on? Ain't it an old hat, mom?"

No reply.

"Ain't he a funny looking man, mom? Ain't he?"

No reply.

"Ain't it funny when a man has got a boil on the back of his neck, mom? Ain't it?" (We happened to have one that morning.)

No reply.

"Ain't there nothing to do about boils on the back of the neck, mom ain't there?"

"Shut up!" came the voice of the lady. "If you use that word 'ain't' again, I am going to souk you on the bugle, now take it from me. How often have I got to tell you not to use that word 'ain't'?"

HAVE APPRECIATION OF LIGHT

Citizens of Colorado Town Realize What It Means to Secure the Needed Power.

You who live in cities where the electricity is a thing to be taken for granted, requiring only the pressing of a button, would appreciate it more if you could see what has to be done in Green Mountain Falls, Colo., before we have any light.

In the first place, we don't have any electric light at all until 6 or 6:30 o'clock in the evening. And the only reason that we have that, is because the men who manage the power plant, which is situated almost at the very top of a mountain, start their long and far-from-easy climb every night about 5:30 and turn on the lights for us.

It may sound very simple and all that, but if you could see the speck that is the power house, way, way up there against the side of an exceedingly steep and rocky mountain, you would change your mind about it. They say the climb is about a mile. And sometimes in the midst of a severe thunder storm, when the rain is hurling itself down the mountain, and the falls are roaring in stentorian tones, and the trees are straining and moaning in the wind, you wonder that the men ever reach the top at all, and are more than thankful when the lights finally go on. For that is our only way of knowing that the men have reached there safely.—Kansas City Star.

Weather Affects Watch Springs.

Did you ever have the mainspring of a watch break? If you did, the chances are that this occurred in thunderstorm weather, writes C. A. Briggs in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been the experience of many jewelers that in thunderstorm seasons the number of broken watch mainsprings increases greatly. This has been erroneously ascribed, though somewhat vaguely, to the effect of electricity, magnetism, and of the noise from the thunder, but an analysis of the explanations attempted fails to develop any reasonable relation in accord with these ideas.

This matter has recently been made the subject of scientific study. It was finally found to arise from the fact that at this time of the year the air was both warm and moist, and that both of these conditions facilitated rusting. A small spot of rust often starts on the spring or in a crack, and the spring soon weakens and lets go.

The Compass Plant.

On the prairies and plains of Utah Texas and southern Minnesota there grows a wonderful plant which has proved useful to travelers wandering over these vast tracts of country. It is called the compass plant, or pilot plant, because of a peculiarity in the growth of the leaves, which grow alternately along the stalk, and point precisely north and South. The Indians followed the direction given them by these pointing leaves, and told the white men about it. This plant belongs to the family of the Compositae and looks very much like the sunflower. It has a strong, resinous odor, somewhat like turpentine, and sometimes goes by the name of "turpentine plant."—Christian Science Monitor.

Testing Pearls.

Two professors in physics at London university, England, are conducting exhaustive tests, on behalf of the Daily Mail, with a view to finding a possible difference between ordinary and Japanese pearls. A Japanese pearl is produced by inserting a seed pearl or mother of pearl into the liver of an oyster. Alfred E. Calvert, a fellow of the Chemical society, stated recently that the several specimens of Japanese pearls he possesses are identical in weight, color and luster with ordinary pearls, and they are produced by the oyster with the same materials and by the same process as the other variety.

REOPENS HIS CHURCH

Air Necessary for Human Life.

Every time we breathe, we draw thirty cubic inches of air into our lungs; supposing that we take fifteen breaths a minute for the twenty-four hours of the day, we use no less than 648,000 cubic inches of air, which would weigh over thirty pounds. One day's supply of air for one human being would be sufficient to fill 1,125 two-gallon cans; a year's supply would weigh more than five tons. From these figures it may be seen how necessary it is to keep windows open so that there may be a continuous supply of fresh air.

SAPPHO REINCARNATED

This girl, Juanita Clivette of New York, is certain that she is the reincarnation of Sappho. At the age of six she climbed on her mother's knee and said: "Mamma, I have found myself. Who, or what, was Sappho?" Since then she has written thousands of lyrics and painted many charming canvases. She is now only fourteen years old. Her father, who keeps a curio shop, has been an actor, magician, newspaper man and artist. "I am as old as time," says Juanita. "I have been since the beginning. Once I was Sappho. I am again Sappho reincarnate."

ANOTHER MARYVILLE CASE.

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Maryville Folks.

Just another report of a case in Maryville. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Maryville with Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. N. Bryan, retired farmer, 222 11th St., Maryville, says: "I can say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. At one time I was having trouble with my kidneys and back. I had an intense soreness through the small of my back which caused me great pain when I tried to bend and straighten up quickly. My kidneys acted too frequently and this weakened me. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I started to use them. I found great relief from the start and after using Doan's a while I was relieved of the trouble. It has been some time since I have needed to use Doan's Kidney Pills so I know the benefit they gave me is a lasting one." (Statement given June 13, 1916.)

On March 31, 1920, Mr. Bryan said: "Time will never change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. Since I used them four years ago I have had no return of the trouble. I am glad to say Doan's permanently cured me and I also wish to confirm my former statement."

BELLS RING IN REJOICING AT GOVERNOR HYDE'S ACTION

Realizing of Dormitory Dream Is Signified by Simultaneous Pealing At 5 O'clock

At 5 o'clock yesterday, the ringing of bells proclaimed the releasing of the dormitory appropriation for the State Teachers College by Governor A. M. Hyde. The bells in all the churches and at the High School Building were rung simultaneously at the suggestion of W. A. Blagg, president of the Board of Regents, as a symbol of the town's rejoicing.

Mr. Blagg announced the receipt of the official message at Perrin Hall and the Courthouse and at other places where crowds were gathered.

Unofficial but authentic news of the approaching release of the fund was received exclusively by the Democrat-Forum several days ago, but the letter to Mr. Blagg yesterday was the first official word.

"A Modern Maid" Has Ideas on How One Might Manage a Man

Having told Maryville young men in a previous article how to charm a woman, the Democrat-Forum's expert on affairs of the heart today writes a "Modern Maid's" ideas on "How One MIGHT Manage a Man."

Sir Knight of the Democrat-Forum: A little bird whispered to me the other day and said, "You know they are looking for another letter on Feminism or Man-ism"—naturally I prefer the latter subject and beg leave to submit the following hints and advice on "How one MIGHT manage a man."

The way of a woman with a man is a distracting perplexity for if she believes his line of persiflage, he thinks she is foolish, and if she doesn't, he calls her cynical; if she gives him a compliment, he is frightened; if she doesn't, he is disappointed; if she responds too readily to his kisses, he is terribly shocked, and if she doesn't he is peeved,—therefore the cards are seemingly stacked against her, and her only hope of drawing a winning hand in the game of love is to watch closely, play carefully, say little and THINK exceedingly deep.

She should cover her failings, her jealousies and her selfishness beneath an exterior of sweetness. Then lead "Him" down the pleasant path of sentiment and romantic adventure—lure him into tender conversation and tempt him to whisper sweet nothings to her. But don't, don't put him on a pedestal (they are so slippery) and expect him to have the virtues of a saint. It is divine to be woshiped, but a man finds it lots more comfortable to be just liked.

Don't give him too much affection, for it will (like wine) probably leave him with a headache, a heartache or that "Oh, what's the use" feeling.

Respect the talents he has and don't expect him to live up to a matinee idol.

Be his friend in need, in thought and in creed. Look at him through friendly, approving eyes, not through a microscope; no man can stand that.

Don't henna your hair or torture it with hot curling irons for his delectation. Don't wear short skirts and endure the torments of exposure and public criticism to show him the dimples in your knees that he may find them pleasing.

HE doesn't love a woman because she is famous, popular and clever, but because she is sweet and gracious, lovable and cuddlesome, and an understanding little soul. Don't flirt with him; stop trying to vamp him and quit pursuing him. Never take him seriously, but DO take him for granted.

In other words, study him.
If he is honest, honor him.
If he is generous, appreciate him.
If he is secretive, trust him.
If he is confidential, encourage him
When he is cross, amuse him.
When he is quarrelsome, ignore him
If he doesn't care for your sports or pleasures, coax him.
When he deserves it, kiss him.
Let him think how well you understand him, but never let him know you "manage" him.

MERCHANTS REPORT DROP IN SALES OF B. V. D.'S

Icy Breezes Send Pedestrians Along at Snappy Gait—Sweaters and Overcoats Popular.

Brisk winds from the northwest, bringing with them suggestions of snow and ice, sent Maryville citizens scurrying this morning for overcoats. Clothiers reported a good business in underwear of the itchy, scratchy kind.

The minimum temperature last night was 52 degrees, a drop of 30 degrees from yesterday's high. At 1 o'clock today the thermometer of J. R. Brink, official weather observer, registered 56 degrees.

The prediction for tonight and tomorrow is for generally fair weather with the temperature continuing to drop.

Mr. Brink has received no warning of frost.

Incidentally, it's great football weather.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Sept. 29.—An open winter was prophesied yesterday by Gene Dunning, who for fifty years has been Fort Dodge's weather prognostigator, Mr. Dunning has kept a daily weather record for the half century.

"If for three days before and six days after the sun crosses the equator a south to southeasterly wind is blowing it indicated a mild winter," Mr. Dunning declared. "It may be a harder one than last year, but by no means a hard winter."

A beautiful October was forecast by Mr. Dunning.

Japan's Rolkefeller Murdered

Tokio, Sept. 29—Zanjiro Yasuda, known as the Rockefeller of Japan was murdered today. His fortune is estimated at a billion dollars. He was head of a dozen banks.
